Leaving Your Legacy to Help CAMO's Future.

"CAMO saves lives and I want saving lives and helping those less fortunate than me to be part of my legacy. By remembering CAMO in my will, even though I'll be gone, I'll still be giving in a very effective way. That makes me happy."

- Ron Taggart, CAMO Board President

Dr. Roberto Álvarez, Neurosurgery Counterpart

SUPPORT THOSE IN NEED NOW AND FOR YEARS TO COME

Every day, CAMO makes a difference providing health care, education, and so much more to disadvantaged men, women and children in Honduras. We count on your generous contributions so we can save lives. But did you know that with thoughtful planning, you can advance your own estate planning while helping CAMO provide essential services, not just now but far into the future?

LEAVING A LEGACY TO CAMO: PLANNED GIVING OPTIONS

A planned gift will allow CAMO to build on its established programs, with the ultimate goal of being completely sustainable. Our partnerships with The Columbus Foundation and the Wayne County Community Foundation provide a great resource to help you walk through planned giving options and explore how your philanthropic goals can help support CAMO.

Through the following Planned Giving options, you can balance your need to provide for loved ones and help CAMO in providing essential services that help save lives in Honduras far into the

BEQUESTS

By making a provision in your will or trust you can support CAMO in the future through a bequest this could be a specific amount, a percentage or all the rest and residue. Bequests offer flexibility and can be structured to fit your personal situation.

BENEFICIARY DESIGNATIONS

An alternative to a bequest gift is to designate CAMO as the beneficiary of your retirement plan assets.

This gift is simple and you can name CAMO as the beneficiary without changing your will or trust. A gift of retirement plan assets has the added advantage of being among the most tax-wise ways to make an estate gift.

You can also name CAMO as a bene-ficiary of your insurance policies and other financial accounts.—

Ron Taggart. CAMO USA Board President.
